

The Reseda Neighborhood Council urge the Los Angeles Unified School District to consider changing the position of LAUSD Superintendent from a Board of Education appointed position to a directly elected position.

The Stakeholders of this community feel it is imperative to have direct input on such an important position, and members of the community, including parents and educators, should be directly involved in the selection of Superintendent.

The Reseda Neighborhood Council's stakeholders believe the whole of LAUSD and the communities would benefit by having a directly elected Superintendent, as it would allow for communities to have greater involvement in their school system, as well as greater accountability to the people served.

We ask our fellow Neighborhood Councils that are affected by LAUSD to join us and advise the Board of Education to stop its appointments and let the people choose their Superintendent.

Thank you for your consideration. We look forward to a time when we see the people have a true voice in choosing those put in positions of power.

Sincerely,
The Reseda Neighborhood Council
On behalf on the Stakeholders of Reseda
